Africanized bees confirmed in St. Bernard Parish

Africanized bees have been confirmed in a wrecked house at 2225 Esteban St. in Arabi, a New Orleans suburb located in St. Bernard Parish, Agriculture and Forestry Commissioner Bob Odom said.

"This is the first positive confirmation of Africanized bees in a structure in the eastern part of the state," Odom said. "Previously, we found the bees in shipping containers, barges and ocean-going vessels entering deepwater ports in the New Orleans area and in traps on the western side of the state.

"These bees were established in a home that was being torn down because of damage from Hurricane Katrina. A contractor noticed a significant bee problem as the demolition was underway and a beekeeper was called in to help. The problem was so severe the beekeeper had to leave the site and local mosquito control officials were contacted."

Odom said local mosquito control personnel treated the structure to control the aggressive bees and collected samples to submit to the Department of Agriculture and Forestry for identification.

"Our bee expert made preliminary positive identification and sent the samples to the USDA's bee research facility in Tucson for official confirmation," Odom said, noting detection and identification of the hive was determined by great coordination between the local officials and the state.

Odom said his department obtained GPS coordinates for the location of the demolished house so a perimeter of traps within approximately a half-mile radius can be established.

"The traps will be the same kind we've used in the western part of the state to monitor the progression of Africanized bees across Louisiana," Odom explained. "So far, this is an isolated find in the New Orleans area. But we want to determine if the bees are now established in the southeast region of the state or if this is just a single incident."

Africanized bees are smaller and more aggressive than the European honeybees commonly raised for honey production. It is their hostile nature that scares many outdoor enthusiasts.

"Because Africanized bees have been labeled 'killer bees' for years, there's an idea around that they are bigger than European honeybees," Odom said. "The truth is they're actually smaller but a lot fiercer."

The venom in Africanized bees is the same as that in European bees, but Africanized bees will sting in greater numbers leading to a toxic reaction in some cases. Experts recommend seeking cover immediately to reduce the number of stings in a confrontation with Africanized bees.

Bread Pudding with Apricot Sauce

2 tbsps. melted butter	1 cup sugar
6 slices melted butter	1 tsp. vanilla
6 slices bread, broken into pieces	dash nutmeg
4 eggs beaten	2 1/2 cups milk

Mix all ingredients and bake at 350 degrees until firm. Immediately pour sauce over while in pan.

Sauce:

1/2 cup sugar	2 tbsps. butter
2 tbsps. flour	1 can apricots, mashed or broken up

Mix sauce ingredients and cook on medium high until thick.

Crawfish Casserole

2 medium onions, chopped	3 green onions, chopped
1 bell pepper, chopped	3 cups rice, cooked
2 stalks celery, chopped	1 lb. Louisiana crawfish tails, rinsed
1 stick butter	1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 tbsp. Cajun seasoning	1 can cream of celery soup
1 tsp. salt	1 1/2 cups cheddar cheese, shredded
1 tsp. black pepper

Sauté first four ingredients. Add remaining ingredients except cheese, mix well. Pour into a greased casserole dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Add cheese on top and bake until bubbly, about 15 to 20 minutes.
